Olivia has been working as an energy finance lawyer for over 15 years advising banks, financial institutions, private equity funds and E&P independents on oil and gas upstream debt financings and restructuring. Olivia's experience spreads from traditional corporate syndicated commercial bank lending, pre-payments, acquisition financings to more particularly, reserve-based lending. The transactions she advises on are multi-jurisdictional in nature and she has been advising on upstream financings across Europe, North America, Asia and Africa. As a native French speaker, her contribution on financings in Francophone Africa is invaluable.

"... one of the top oil and gas debt structuring lawyers in the business and is seen as a 'go-to' lawyer in this field, particularly for bespoke and complex transactions which require a keen commercial mind. Driven by efficient execution, without compromising attention to detail, Olivia has built up solid client relationships based on trust." — Client

"exceptional banking and energy sector knowledge," "Trusted advisers," "an impeccable record with financial institutions" — Legal 500 UK, 2015
