

Societe Generale's Elena Robciuc: Leading & Financing the Clean Energy Transition

Podcast | Madam Policy

January 24, 2023 | 1 minute read

A 20-year veteran and leader in the energy finance space, Elena Robciuc spearheads Societe Generale's early-mover goals in financing decarbonization strategies, including carbon capture and sequestration, hydrogen, biofuels, and energy storage. As Managing Director and Houston Team Lead of Energy+ Group for one of the world's largest banks, Elena and her institution are working towards making a positive impact on sustainability and our clean energy future.

In this week's episode, join Bracewell partners Dee Martin and Stephanie Koo Song as they host Elena on Madam Policy. Is the Inflation Reduction Act a game changer? Is clean hydrogen a new asset class? How are banks doing their part to help achieve net-zero emissions? What are Elena's top tips for success for young professionals? And, what advice would Elena give her 24-year-old self? You'll learn something new in this episode—don't miss it!
