Hans Dyke advises clients on energy infrastructure matters. His experience includes transactions in the electric power and oil and gas midstream space, as well as transactions involving energy intensive industries such as data storage. He regularly handles mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, divestitures, equity investments and financings.

Hans' clients have included some of the largest energy and power companies in the world. He served as counsel to a group of founding investors in the initial public offering of a unique REIT formed to hold electric transmission and distribution assets. He also represented a global energy concern in multiple investments in renewable and fossil fuel power projects throughout the United States, and helped a British multinational electricity and gas utility in the sale of its shale gas business.

From 2021 to 2024, Hans served as General Counsel of Sol Systems, LLC where he was also a member of its Executive Team.
