

The Scoop Podcast: The Opportunities Agriculture Can't Miss in Renewable Fuels

Media Mentions

September 09, 2024 | The Scoop Podcast | 1 minute read | Washington, DC

Bracewell's Tim Urban joined The Scoop Podcast to discuss how agriculture has the potential to be a game-changer in evolving energy policies.

While liquid fuels are a “no-brainer,” Urban sees corn, soybeans and other Ag stocks being rich with opportunities.

“Whether it’s electricity or whether it’s fuel for your car, miraculously, ag and ag products play a huge starring role in all of it,” he added.

As for the future of renewable energy policy, Urban said the November election will set the stage for what policies are pursued, but overall, he thinks the future is bright for Ag’s role in renewables.

Related People

Timothy

Senior Principal
WASHINGTON, DC
+1.202.828.7625
timothy.urban@bracewell.com

Related Practices

Tax

Renewable Energy