

Government Relations

Chaos to Clarity

Our government relations practice is housed within the Bracewell Policy Resolution Group (PRG) -->. PRG is unique among law firms, as it brings together government relations, strategic communications and legal services together under one roof. This combination allows us to provide unparalleled, comprehensive services to clients.

Our team includes former senior officials in the legislative and executive branches, former press secretaries and journalists, former in-house counsel and nationally ranked lobbyists. We draw on these diverse skills and experiences to dive deep into a given matter. Our strategic communications team brings that knowledge to life through advocacy efforts fueled by the power of new and traditional media.

We help members of Congress and their staff, regulators and other policymakers understand and act on the position of our clients, as well as in matching our clients' priorities with the concerns of legislators and regulators. We develop legislative strategies, manage relations with the executive branch and relevant federal agencies, and create coalitions and strategic partnerships to advance our clients' regulatory and legislative initiatives.

PRG is the top energy and environmental government relations and strategic communications practice in Washington, DC. We represent Air Liquide, Energy Forward, Energy Vault, OCI N.V., The Metals Company and The Sustainable Aviation Fuel Alliance, among others, on vital energy and environmental issues, guiding them through legislative and regulatory issues specific to their policy goals.

We represent the Window Covering Manufacturers Association and the Breastfeeding & Infant Development Support Alliance before the US Consumer Products Safety Commission (CPSC).

BRACEWELL

PRG is also the only entity that represents nearly all active-duty FBI agents through its professional organization, the FBI Agents Association (FBIAA).

We also support the policy goals of non-profit organizations such as The Trevor Project, the National Brain Tumor Society and the Society of Neuro-Oncologists.
